

MISSISSIPPI RIVER CORRIDOR

Dubuque - Twin Cities

This 275-mile corridor is a major rail freight corridor containing part of the Burlington Northern Santa Fe and Canadian Pacific mainlines linking the Twin Cities and Chicago. It also includes the major waterborne freight corridor of the Upper Mississippi River Waterway System. The highways in this corridor are also economic lifelines and major tourism routes. It contains Wisconsin's only National Scenic Byway - the Great River Road.

